

Please do not enact or repeal any rule that would operate to reduce the current coverage/effectiveness of the Wisconsin Do Not Call List. My home phone is also my business phone and I don't have any extra small business resources to spend responding to Telemarketers. Personally, I find the argument of the bankers associate to be flawed. If I choose to discontinue an existing relationship with 'banker A', why would I want to expend my time and resources responding to sales calls from 'banker A' or their associates? They had their chance to keep my business and messed it up.

Again, please leave the Wisconsin Do Not Call list alone. I refer to the age old adage, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it." From a consumer perspective, the Wisconsin Do Not Call List "Ain't Broke."

Thank you for your consideration.
